As a mentor, what impact or change would I like to create?

As a mentor, I would like to create a meaningful and lasting impact by truly understanding each mentee as an individual, their goals, current situation, challenges, and the options available to them.

My approach would be to encourage mentees to think beyond their immediate perspective, helping them explore different viewpoints and identify the path that best aligns with their strengths and aspirations. Rather than offering a one-size-fits-all solution, I want to empower them to make informed decisions with confidence.

I would draw on both my personal and professional experiences to provide guidance that is not just theoretical, but grounded in real-world insight. Ultimately, the change I hope to create is one of clarity, confidence, and direction, helping each mentee take meaningful steps toward their career.
