LVO Donates PPE Items to South Mountain Memory Care

Lehigh Valley Operations (LVO) employee Elizabeth Matz, who has worked for Mack Trucks for six years and currently works on LVO's Cab 1 production line, approached LVO Plant Manager Rickard Lundberg last week with a request for personal protective equipment (PPE) needed at the local healthcare facility where her daughter is employed. The South Mountain Memory Care facility in Emmaus, Pa., has been in need of PPE items which are in short supply. LVO was able to provide the healthcare facility with Tyvek suits typically used by LVO's painters, as well as face masks.

UAW Local 677 EBU/OBU Chairman David Durgin and LVO Offline Operations Business Unit Director Carolyn Chaplin presented the PPE supplies to Elizabeth.

"When I reached out I really felt it was a long shot since PPE items are in such short supply and I knew LVO would soon be resuming production," noted Elizabeth. "My daughter and I were thrilled to be able to present the PPE items from LVO to the employees at South Mountain Memory Care, we send our sincerest thanks to LVO for your caring and generosity, and I am very proud to say I work at Mack Trucks!"

Lehigh Valley Operations (LVO) is proud to support healthcare efforts in our local community through in-kind donations of much-needed PPE items given to our local healthcare providers. LVO has recently donated PPE items to a number of other healthcare providers in our local community.

We Are Mack. We Are Safety. We Are People.
